

Bardia Jungle Safari

Trip Overview

Bardia Jungle Safari- An exploration to the southwest of Terai National Park “ Bardia National Park.”

The Bardia National Park (1988 AD) lies in the Terai Region and covers 968 sq. km. It is 585 km far from Kathmandu and is the largest and unspoiled wilderness of Southern Nepal. The best way to explore Bardia National Park is through the Jungle Safari.

Bardia Jungle Safari is the least examined excursion by the abroad tourist. This national park is rich in Sal Jungle and a mixture of grassland and savannah forest. It contains different types of ecosystems. The park is home to many species of wildlife like the One-horned Rhinoceros, wild Asian Elephant, Swamp Deer, Bengal Tiger, Ganges Dolphin, endangered Bengal Florican, and many others. According to WWF, Bardia National Park has been playing a major role in preserving the Bengal tiger and increasing their number. The National Park is an ideal region for the indigenous group, the Tharu.

The best time to have a Bardia Jungle Safari is mid-September to mid-December and then from start of the February till the end of May.
