

Pikey Peak Trek

Trip Overview

Pikey Peak is located in eastern part of Nepal in Solukhumbu district. It is one of the best hill top to see panoramic sunset and sunrise views of Annapurna, Langtang, Mahalangur and Kanchenjunga Himalayan range with deep green valleys. It is one of the most popular short trek destinations of Nepal among the tourists and Nepalese hiking community. This is one of the best attractions for those who do not have enough time to go out to see the mountains and hills. There is good access of motors to the starting point of the trek. There are two summits which are called Pikey Peak 1 (4065 Mtr) and Pikey Peak 2 (4067 Mtr) but according to the local Sherpas' traditional aspects, they are named differently as Goley Pikey (4065 Mtr) and Chyawa Pikey (4067 Mtr). Every year the concerned local people organize the ceremony to worship the Clan god (which is called "Rhu" in Sherpa language) to get blessing and gain religious merits with the invitation of head local Buddhist monks. In summer season the people below the Pikey area take their cattle (Yaks, Naks and Jopkio) around the Pikey peak area for grazing, while there is crop and field harvesting time occur in down valley. People set their settlements in high pastureland around Pikey peak for some months in monsoon times.
